Question 1. Detailed report of event was running along the water's edge towing his ear old daughter on a body board. He saw the dingo 10 - 15 metres in front of him as he swung around with his daughter in tow. His daughter fell off the board and when he went to help her up he noticed the dingo was much closer. When he reached his daughter the dingo lunged forward and snapped in her direction (within centimetres) without making contact and his daughter started to walk away and the dingo followed and snapped again, grabbed his daughter by the arm and started to walk backwards along the beach. The dingo followed and his daughter retreated into deeper water. The dingo was not deterred so sch 4 - personal information ent his daughter to the rest of the group while he tried to deter the dingo by yelling at it and waving his body board. The dingo moved away.

Question 1. Detailed report of events. Interaction report received via the dingo.ranger email on 21/12/2016.

At about 9:30 my wife was with our 10 year old daughter under our beach umbrella, as lying down next to me when she noticed a dingo had come up from behind. The dingo managed to lick on the head before punching it in the head. The dingo scooted away but wasn't all that afraid of people, and hung around for lots of photos from us and other tourists as it walked through an area with a couple of dozen onlookers (who mostly kept their distance).

I was in the lake when this happened. Apparently I didn't hear the first couple of times she tried to get my attention. In my defence it was a little windy. By the time she got my attention the dingo was more than 10m - 15m from her and at no point (when I saw it) did it look threatening, or even concerned with humans.

Question 2: What were the actions/behaviours of the dingo(s) during the Interaction?

Question 1. Detailed report of events. At around 0820 hrs (Kingfisher resort staff member) was driving along Kingfisher Heights Road (located inside the fenced area) when she came across two juvenile dingoes (one male and the other female). She parked her car, got out and made sure current onlookers kept their distance. While personal information was monitoring the two dingoes, she saw a man crouching down taking photos while the female juvenile dingo headed towards him. The dingo got close enough to sniff and lick the mans knee. personal information discouraged the man from doing this and the dingo moved away. QPWS rangers (already at the resort) were notified and upon arrival at 1005hrs saw UTJUV16F loitering in the area, drinking water out of a saucepan, with four visitors and one staff member standing within 10 metres watching the dingo. The male dingo had moved away from the area before QPWS rangers arrived.
